NCEC announces changes for nursing awards
- Nursing Excellence in Clinical Education Award: This award no longer will be offered in the fall; one $1,000 award will be offered in the spring during Nurses Week. It also will be repurposed to recognize staff more directly involved with student education, such as CIs from the DEU, preceptors, etc.
- Sally Mathis Hartwig Award: The RN-to-BSN award will be discontinued. The award will now comprise two $1,000 awards, which will be given to graduate students at UI CoN each spring, during Nurses Week. More information regarding eligibility and application process will be available this fall. If you have questions, please contact Lou Ann Montgomery.

Some classes moved from EMSLRC to NCEC on July 1
All CPR, ACLS, and PALS classes for staff members in the Department of Nursing Services and Patient Care and Respiratory Therapy have transitioned from the EMSLRC to the NCEC as of July 1, 2013. The greatest impact of this transition will be with the CPR courses. We will no longer be renewing CPR during annual competencies; you will now be recertified in the month that you are due. Classes are currently posted for July, August, and September, and dates will be available soon for the next quarter. Instructions for class registration may be found here.

Barbara Rhomberg Excellence in Nursing Scholarship
The Barbara Rhomberg Excellence in Nursing Scholarship, sponsored by B4 Brands, is awarded each year to five, non-traditional, full-time students pursuing undergraduate degrees in nursing. All scholarship winners will receive a non-renewable scholarship of $1,000, which is payable directly to the institution in which they are enrolled. Undergraduate nursing programs are those offering an associate’s or bachelor’s degree in nursing. Non-traditional students are those students who postponed the pursuit of a college degree following high school graduation, or who had their college careers interrupted and instead entered the workforce, military, or fulfilled a family or non-profit obligation.
