

MEDICAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING

FY 2021

University of Iowa Health Care educates and trains the next generation of health care professionals, changing medicine through its innovative, integrated, and individualized approach.

1,369

Faculty Members

612

Medical Students

72

Physician Assistant Students

134

Physical Therapy Students

813

Residents, Fellows, and Dentists

300+

Graduate Students

U.S. News & World Report Rankings 2022-2023

#1 Physician Assistant
#4 Physical Therapy
#16 Family Medicine

#16 Primary Care
#36 Rural Medicine
#41 Research

#94 Diversity
#132 Health Professional Shortage Area

Degree Programs

- Doctor of Medicine (MD)
- Medical Scientist Training Program (MD/PhD)
- Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) programs in biomedical science and rehabilitation science
- Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT)
- Master of Physician Assistant Studies (MPAS)
- Master in Medical Education (MME)
- Bachelor of Science programs in clinical laboratory science, nuclear medicine, and radiation science
- Combined degree programs (DPT/PhD, MD/MBA, MD/MPH, MD/JD)

Medical Student Current Class Profile

152 Entrants
48% Female
52% Male
32% Ethnic minority or underrepresented in medicine
70% Iowa residents
3.80 Mean undergraduate GPA
515 Median MCAT score

2022 MD Graduate Match Summary

152 Graduates
50% Graduates will enter primary care training
26% Graduates will remain in Iowa for training

Top Specialties

1 / Internal Medicine
2 / Family Medicine
3 / Pediatrics

Top States

1 / Iowa
2 / California
3 / Minnesota